

Receiving eBill as a business customer

Your Benefits at a Glance

As a business customer, you can receive and pay your invoices digitally with eBill.

You decide how you want to receive your eBill invoices: directly in your online banking or seamlessly in your own business software.

Directly in Online Banking

- Efficient: All authorized employees can connect your company to other invoice issuers through the eBill Portal to receive eBill invoices directly in online banking in the future.

- Transparent: All authorized employees can view and review your company's invoices and then approve or reject them for payment.

If you want to receive eBill as a business customer, your bank will support you to receive eBill as a business customer.

Customer Journey – eBill in Online Banking

Without Media Disruption in Your Own Business Software

- Proven channels: Your bank sends eBill invoices to you through the channels you already use today (file transfer such as EBICS).
- Simple processes: Once the eBill invoice is received in your business software, booking and payment is done according to your standard processes. No adjustments to existing processes are required.
- Convenient archiving: In addition to the electronic invoice data, you will also receive the corresponding PDF. This means that the invoice document can be easily archived using your existing processes.

Your bank and software partner will help you integrate eBill with your own business software.

Customer Journey – eBill for Business Software

The expansion of the offer for business customers is a further step in supporting the “eBill” service as the leading digital invoice in Switzerland.
